More town centre parking needed to help area thrive

By Samantha McGregor

WITNEY town centre could get a second multi-storey car park to help cope with thousands of new homes.

According to the local plan, 15,950 homes could be built in Witney and the surrounding area, and in order to maintain the vibrancy of the town, extra parking is needed for shoppers.

West Oxfordshire District Council says by 2031 a further 600 spaces will be needed in Witney.

Cllr Duncan Enright, leader of the opposition, said: "It's clear Witney is a significant service centre for miles around. We need to provide extra parking for shoppers and more parking dedicated to serving the town centre.

"Obviously a way to tackle it would be a multi-storey. We have a history of success – if you look very carefully at what we did for Marriott Close, the shops, flats and successful hidden multi-storey."

He said the town must "avoid" city-style concrete buildings, and any multi-storey should fit with Witney being a "Cotswold market town".

Mr Enright suggested the multi-storey car park could be built in Woodfield Way on the current Waitrose car park, but should not "create traffic issues" or "blight" residents or shops.

He said ideally any new car park should be funded by a developer as part of a project in the town.

The council's parking strategy report said forecasted growth in the town by 2031 "will push many car parks to or over capacity".

It also said: "The total occupancy across all car parks would reach 99 per cent on weekdays and 112 per cent on Saturday.

"It is a similar situation with regards to on-street parking, where there are likely to be little or no vacant parking spaces by 2031."

In a cabinet meeting last month, a report said a decked carpark for 600 vehicles – 200 on each floor - would cost in the region of £7.8m, the equivalent of £13,000 per space to build.

During the meeting the cabinet agreed to adopt the strategic approach to parking capacity, which includes meeting future demand for spaces.

It said 120 more car parking spaces would be needed in Chipping Norton, 150 in Woodstock and 200 in Burford.

Cllr James Mills, council leader, was unavailable to comment.

Oxfordshire County Council is in the process of developing a park and ride strategy for the A40 corridor. A park and ride is planned for Eynsham with a possibility it could be used as a park and ride into Witney as well and cut the need for parking in Witney town centre.

PUDSEY and fire and rescue crews were out and about raising money to help children last week.

Crews from Woodstock visited the picturesque Blenheim Palace, while Bampton staff toured their quaint town centre, to raise a total of £9,820 for Children in Need.

Crews all across Oxfordshire joined in collecting money in their towns and villages, raising more than £22,000 overall.

County urged to act over plans to develop region

By George Welch

A REVIVED Cowley branch line could be transporting rail passengers within two years, according to a government-backed report that said works along the line are "essential" to support growth.

A long-awaited National Infrastructure Commission report into growth between Oxford and Cambridge has urged work to begin quickly on the line as part of a major scheme to boost innovation and development across the region.

It said Cowley was developing quickly and has the potential to grow further, with increasing employment opportunities and housing making it a 'prime candidate' to receive increased transport capacity sooner.

The report added that growth within the county was under threat if rapid work did not start soon.

Chairman of the NIC Lord Adonis urged ministers and council leaders across the arc covering Oxford to Cambridge to "seize the opportunity" and harness the area's economic potential.

He said it would mean building a million new homes, improving local transport connections and creating new jobs without making changes to existing green belt protections.

The report, released on Friday, makes a series of recommendations to government on how to maximise the economic potential of the 130-mile corridor that links the two cities over the next 30 years.

This includes advocating the Expressway and East West Rail scheme, which will also link the two university cities, to be built "as soon as possible".

Lord Adonis said: "A ground-breaking deal between ministers and local leaders could transform the area, helping to double the rate of housebuilding and deliver the first new towns this country has seen for half a century.

"I urge local leaders to seize this opportunity and work together with government, both for the benefit of their residents and of the country as a whole."

The Oxfordshire Growth Board, responsible for economic development, strategic planning and growth in the county, welcomed the NIC's approval, while campaigners warned of permanent damage to the environment and wildlife.

Chair of the board and city council leader Bob Price said: "This region is already growing strongly and the Oxford-Cambridge 'brain belt' offers an opportunity to create a fourth economic powerhouse for the UK to rival those in London, the Midlands and the north."

The area between Oxford and Cambridge currently generates £90billion per year towards the national economy but, with the expressway in place, this is expected to increase to more than £250bn a year.

Concern over 'rural assets'

THE prospect of more than 300,000 homes in the Oxfordshire countryside has not been well received by everyone.

The Oxfordshire Expressway Action Group (OEAG), which opposes the expressway, has criticised the project citing its 'unsustainability' due to the need for more schools, surgeries, hospitals, roads and town centres.

Co-ordinator of the group, Peter Rutt, criticised the 'needless' housing: "I suspect very few people in Oxfordshire realise this means they are planning to nearly double Oxfordshire's total housing by positioning this new expressway motorway as a 'growth corridor."

He added: "Whatever the route of the expressway, the 'growth corridor' will be a transformative change, and not in a nice way, for all of largely rural Oxfordshire. There is no need for it, they are trying to make us sacrifice our great rural assets for nothing."

Lord Adonis stressed changes could be made without affecting the existing green belt.

South Oxfordshire district councillor Elizabeth Gillespie is also against the expressway. She said: "Upgrading the A34 and the current roads to Cambridge seems the only rational route for a new expressway, if one is justified at all."

The NIC report suggests a preferred route along an improved A34 to Bicester to maximise transport improvement and help to minimise the impact to the environment, green belt, rural villages and communities.

Driver cut from car after crash

A WOMAN is in hospital after a two-car crash in Banbury's Market Square.

Fire and rescue crews were called to the incident on Monday at 1.50pm and found one of the two drivers trapped in their car.

Fire crews formed safety cordons, treated the two drivers and used hydraulic rescue equipment to take the roof off the car and free the woman.

Members of the public and Castle Quay site staff were also involved in the rescue operation, alongside ambulance and police staff.

Police are now investigating the events leading up to the crash.

Watch Manager Alan Hutchinson from Banbury station said: "We'd like to thank the Castle Quay staff and members of the public for the quick actions they took to assist with this incident."

Station manager Simon Belcher from Oxford said: "The three services worked really well together to rescue this lady."

Thieves steal £10,000 of perfume from Boots

AROUND £10,000 worth of perfume has been stolen from Boots in Wallingford and Thame.

Thieves smashed the front window of Boots in Market Place, Wallingford, around 3.30am on November 14 and stole a quantity of perfume.

It follows an incident on November 4 around 4.30am, where thieves broke the front window of the store in High Street, Thame and stole perfume.

Police are linking the incidents.

The men in both burglaries are described as being around 5ft 8ins to 5ft 11ins tall.

One was wearing a puffer style jacket, with his face covered, the other was wearing a dark coloured jacket and also had his face covered.

Investigating officer, PC Mark Wright said: "We are particularly interested in anyone who was driving in the area at the time and may have dash cam footage.

"Additionally we would ask anyone who has been offered a large quantity of perfume for sale to please get in touch to assist with our enquiry."

If you can help, call 101.

Closure threat to GP surgery

Consultation on centre's future

By Samantha McGregor

A CONSULTATION is due to start in January over the future of Banbury Health Centre.

Oxfordshire Clinical Commissioning Group says the government wants larger practices which would be more efficient and offer more services.

OCCG say town centre based Banbury Health Centre, which has more than 6,000 patients, is too small and cannot expand.

A group of GPs set up Principal Medical, PML, a not-for-profit organisation in 2004 and took on the health centre in 2009.

It caused controversy when it opened as it was the first in the county to offer walk-in appointments daily from 8am to 8pm, and other GPs feared it would impact their practices.

At the time Oxfordshire NHS Primary Care Trust was told by the government it had to open the centre and it spent £680,000 to revamp the former council offices where it is based.

But the contract is due to finish at the end of March next year and the GPs do not want to carry on running the centre.

The report by the OCCG, prepared for Oxfordshire County Council, said: "Banbury Health Centre is now at capacity with no space to expand but is still relatively small, leaving it vulnerable in terms of workforce to cover the hours of operation.

"The current provider has indicated that they would not bid to continue to provide the services under a similar contract."

One of the options OCCG is looking at is to merge Banbury Health Centre, West Bar Surgery and Woodlands Surgery and create one large practice to look after the 30,000 patients.

The report said: "All GP practices in Banbury have faced significant difficulties maintaining services over the past few years.

"This has been partly related to difficulties in recruiting for vacant posts in practices but also in relation to the increasing demands on primary care to deliver better access to services, a broader range of services and in supporting patients to avoid attendance at Accident and Emergency departments and admission to hospital.

"Smaller practices are more vulnerable to these increasing demands and to difficulties caused by vacancies in their team.

"Larger practices tend to be more resilient and flexible."

Other options to be considered include trying to find a new provider to run Banbury Health Centre and dispersing registered patients to other practices.

Jude's star set to shine brightly

WITNEY'S Christmas lights will be turned on this weekend and what better way to celebrate than have your own light featured.

That is the case for Jude, the winner of the town council's Design a Light competition, who will watch intently as his creation lights up the spectacular display at Town Hall tomorrow night.

The nine-year-old pupil from King's School was chosen from a number of children who submitted their entries and picked as the winner by Marc from estate agent Scott Fraser.

The light design is one of a number of competitions that Witney Town Council runs every year, with others including best decorated house and best-dressed shop window.

Have your say on plans for leisure centre's new look

THE long-awaited major expansion of Carterton Leisure Centre will move a step closer this month with residents able to have their say on plans at a public exhibition.

The district council has announced that it will be pushing ahead with phase two of the centre, which comes as part of a £9.3million investment programme in leisure facilities over the next 10 years.

Plans at the Broadshires Way complex include new changing rooms, a four-court sports hall and an 'extreme zone' indoor trampoline park.

The centre's existing café and gym will also be upgraded and some of the original building reconfigured to create a new fitness and spinning studios and squash courts.

A car park extension for up to 54 new spaces is also proposed.

The new facilities will be funded by West Oxfordshire District Council and managed by GLL, the council's leisure management contractor.

Councillor Jeanette Baker, cabinet member for health and leisure, said: "Residents have been waiting for this extension for a long time and these plans are really exciting.

"It will be hugely beneficial for the health and wellbeing of the town and I encourage everyone to come and have a look."

Plans can be viewed at the leisure centre on Thursday next week from 2pm to 8pm, when members of the project team will answer questions.

The plans can also be viewed at westoxon.gov.uk from Monday, November 27.

Altitude sickness and broken toe couldn't stop trek up Kilimanjaro

By George Welch

A TENACIOUS hiker crawled the final 100 metres as he battled altitude sickness to climb Africa's highest mountain.

Wayne Cowley, from Milcombe near Banbury, joined a team of seven people as they climbed Mount Kilimanjaro to raise funds for the Meningitis Research Foundation.

The 37-year-old climbed in memory of daughter Mia, from his wife Laura Cowley's previous marriage. Mia tragically lost her life to meningococcal septicaemia at just six months old in 2006.

Wayne, a full-time dad, described the trek as "the toughest thing I've ever done".

Speaking of the battle up the near-6,000m high peak, the hardy soul said: "I had bad altitude sickness while climbing and the guides told me on day two that they didn't think I should continue but I carried on and even crawled the last 100 metres.

"I was determined to reach the summit for Mia and for Laura. The amazing team of people I was with kept me going."

He added: "Arriving back in the UK I felt very tired and achy, but apart from a broken toe I'm in one piece and feeling happy that I achieved this.

"I'm grateful to everyone who sponsored me and enabled me to reach my £5,000 fundraising goal."

On the seven-day adventure, the group trekked through tropical rainforests, ascending through cloud level and finally reaching their ultimate goal – Uhuru, the 5,895m high ice-capped peak of Kilimanjaro, on October 28.

Laura said: "Wayne has amazed me with his strength and determination getting through Kilimanjaro and I'm so proud of him.

"He knows how much my charity work means to me and that's why he pushed through and reached the top."

She added: "When I lost Mia I had no idea how quickly this nasty disease could take hold and change lives forever.

"By raising money for MRF our hope is to help make a little difference even to just one person's life."

InBrief

Foodbank donations

BICESTER'S foodbank is appealing for people to add festive treats to their shopping baskets in the lead up to Christmas to help those in need.

The charity said demand was continuing to rise, particularly among families with children.

Items most needed include Christmas cake, children's selection boxes and mince pies.

There are collection points at Sainsburys, Tesco, Barclays and most Co-ops.

Alcohol thief appeal

POLICE are trying to find a man who broke into a Tesco Metro store in Kidlington and stole alcohol more than four months ago.

Officers have released a CCTV image of a man who may have information about the burglary that took place on July 9 at around 3.50am.

The offender gained entry by removing a pane of glass from the front door of the store on High Street.

If you recognise this man or have any information relating to the theft, call police on 101.

Thumbs up for park

EXCITED children from Long Hanborough had a wonderful time trying out their new-look play park.

The Hanborough Play Park has undergone a complete transformation and is now larger with new equipment and a new location alongside the Skate Park in the village.

Hanborough Park Initiative volunteers raised more than £100,000 to fund the revamp, including a £20,000 grant from West Oxfordshire District Council.

Cllr Jeanette Baker, cabinet member for leisure at WODC, said: "We are pleased to support the local community and congratulate them on such a fantastic fundraising effort.

"It's good to see children of all abilities enjoying healthy outdoor exercise and being with their families and friends."

The park was last refurbished in 2000 and a recent inspection showed it was no longer adequate with many items deteriorating and in need of repair.

Feedback on health care meetings next month

A HEALTHCARE group will hold a meeting next month to share its findings on primary care workshops in Witney and Carterton.

More than 120 people attended the events earlier this month and shared their views with the Oxfordshire Clinical Commissioning Group on what is important to them to help shape the West Oxfordshire Locality Plan.

Suggestions for improvements to services were made including signposting people to other services such as minor injury units, first aid units and GP hubs.

People at the meetings suggested appointments could be offered with nurses and healthcare assistants as well as the traditional GP appointment.

OCCG representatives were also asked to attend careers fairs to raise the profile of NHS careers with local colleges and schools.

The OCCG will hold a meeting at Witney Corn Exchange between 6.30pm and 8pm on December 7 to "share with you what we have heard" and thanked those who have contributed so far.

Power station collapse: police to send file to CPS before year end

Four men – Ken Cresswell, 57, John Shaw, 61, Michael Collings, 53, and Christopher Huxtable, 34 – were killed when the boiler house came down on February 23 last year.

It took six months to recover the bodies and the site remains a crime scene as police and health and safety experts piece together what happened.

Thames Valley Police confirmed on Monday that it is hoping to send over the initial file to the CPS by the end of the year for them to review.

A spokesperson said: "Due to the complexity of this investigation and the volume of material being examined, it is not possible to give a completion date.

"The investigation is ongoing and we will provide an update when we are able to do so."

Police have been investigating whether there are any criminal proceedings to be brought while the Health and Safety Executive has been examining workplace law.

It is understood delays have been caused by the complexity of the investigations, which have included thousands of witness statements and pieces of evidence.

Demolition firm Coleman & Company, responsible for the power station's demolition before its collapse, announced a 22 per cent dip in profits earlier this year.

The firm planned to have the site, which was closed in March 2013 after 43 years of operations, cleared by the end of this year.

Wreckage from a controlled explosion in July remains, and the three cooling towers and a chimney are also due to be demolished.

The HSE refused to comment but added that it is "fully supporting" TVP's enquiries.

Recruitment drive for more carers

A NEW recruitment drive is being launched in Oxfordshire to encourage more people to become care workers.

People already working in the industry have spoken about their experiences and the rewards of the job in a campaign called Make a difference every day.

More people are needed in adult social care to meet the demand of an increasing ageing population.

Former business consultant Joseph Ndori, 42, pictured, runs care company, Everycare Oxford, which he started after moving here from Zimbabwe six years ago.

He said: "Once I got a taste for the tasks and the responsibilities of caring for people I never looked back. If you want to make a real difference to improving people's lives I would encourage people to get a job as a care worker."

Care workers help people with personal care like washing and dressing, preparing food, feeding people and giving medication, as well as light housework and helping to manage their finances.

Rise in reports of historical sex abuse

NEW figures show more than 2,200 people across the Thames Valley area have reported non-recent sex abuse.

In figures obtained via a Freedom of Information request by the NSPCC, it was revealed there were 450 non-recent cases logged with Thames Valley Police in 2016 and 2017.

It comes as the children's charity urged people who suffered child sexual abuse to "break the silence and speak out".

The NSPCC released the figures for the past four years – in the Thames Valley 480 incidents were recorded in 2013/14, there were 624 in 2014/15 and 687 in 2015/16.

Across the UK the number of recorded offences involving non-recent sexual abuse – which covers offences that occurred more than a year before it was reported to police – have increased each year, from 10,493 in 2013/14 to 20,410 in 2016/17.

Peter Wanless, NSPCC's chief executive, believes the increase in numbers may be down to recent "high-profile abuse cases" such as the football abuse scandal.

She said: "It doesn't matter whether the sexual abuse happened a year ago or 50 years ago, it is never too late to report it.

"It's clear that for far too long, many people who suffered horrendously as children felt they could not speak up, were not believed or did not know who to turn to.

"Although these rising figures paint a worrying picture of widespread abuse, it is encouraging that so many are finally finding their voice in a climate today where they know they will be listened to and supported."

Cat found dead in horror attack

By Samantha McGregor

AN animal welfare charity has launched an investigation after a "horrifying" attack on a cat which was left hanging in a garden.

Police were called after a neighbour found white cat PussPuss hanged by a rope over a garden fence in Ashby Road, Bicester, on November 12.

The RSPCA said it was currently unclear whether the cat was still alive when it was hanged on the fence.

Owner Lisa Gamage said she was "horrified" someone could do that to her pet and that it happened so close to home.

PussPuss had been taken in by the family three years ago as a young, pregnant stray, and belonged to Lisa's nine-year-old son, Kobi, along with PussPuss's son, Gary.

She said: "It's really sad. Gary is really missing her. I feel so sorry for him.

"We're all missing her, she was such an attention-seeker and now she's not here.

"She was such a beautiful cat, she was really friendly. She didn't really go far and didn't like going out in the rain.

"I'm just hoping she was killed quickly and she wasn't tormented or anything. I want to find out what happened to her."

PussPuss was found dead by a neighbour

RSPCA Inspector Jaime Godfrey said it was "horrifying that anyone could be capable of doing this to a cat".

He said: "This was a very unpleasant and upsetting find for the homeowner who discovered the cat belonged to a neighbour.

"Police said the white cat had been found hanging from a garden fence and had blood splattered down her rear legs.

"This would have been an extremely shocking find for the caller and absolutely heart-breaking for the cat's owner."

Anyone with information should contact Inspector Godfrey via 0300 123 8018

South Central Ambulance Service staff get their message across

Slow down and save lives

AMBULANCE staff are urging drivers to slow down and save lives as part of a campaign to raise awareness about the dangers of driving too fast.

South Central Ambulance Staff in Kidlington joined a national campaign for Road Safety Week, running until Sunday, urging road users in Oxfordshire to keep their speed down.

On average five people every day across the region are killed or seriously injured on its roads and traffic accidents are the leading cause of death for people aged 15-24 in the region.

Ross Cornett, clinical operations manager for Oxfordshire, said: "My colleagues and I have seen far too many times the devastating impact road traffic collisions can have on the individuals involved and their families.

"Almost a quarter of all fatal road traffic collisions involve a driver or rider breaking the speed limit or travelling too fast for the road conditions. Put simply, by slowing down we could save lives."

Court date change

CAMPAIGNERS say the High Court hearing over the Oxfordshire Clinical Commissioning Group's (OCCG) consultation to downgrade services at Banbury's Horton hospital will now take place on Wednesday and Thursday, December 6 and 7.

It was earlier announced the hearing would be on Thursday and Friday, December 7 and 8.

The legal challenge was mounted jointly by Cherwell district, South Northamptonshire, Stratford-on-Avon district and Banbury town councils, along with campaign group Keep the Horton General as an interested party.

They will put forward their case for a full judicial review at London's Royal Courts of Justice.

Play for the deaf

A PLAY that tells a story for the deaf and hard of hearing will be staged in Oxford tomorrow evening.

The heart-felt People of The Eye will be at the Old Fire Station as part of a nationwide tour.

The play uses infrasonic sound design, sign language, mime and projected visuals.

Inspired by writer and performer Erin Hutching's own experiences of growing up with a deaf sister, the show tells the story of a family navigating the deaf world.

Creative swift tower designs on display

The winning design which will be built in University Parks

All the entries for the Oxford City Swift Tower competition are now on display in The Gallery at Oxford Town Hall until January 2.

The Royal Society for the Protection of Birds, RSPB, launched the competition in May to find a design for a new swift tower to be built in Oxford University Parks.

A panel of judges selected a shortlist from the entries and they were put to the public vote.

The winning design was from Jonathan Wheeler of Lower Radley.

The RSPB said traditional nesting sites in buildings were being lost, so it was important to replace them to help stop the further decline of swifts.

Lucy Hyde, Oxford swift city project officer, said: "This is a fantastic opportunity to celebrate the incredible creativity of all those who submitted designs to the Oxford swift tower competition, and an ideal opportunity for people to learn more about the Oxford swift city project.

"We hope people will come along to see the designs, and hopefully find out more about how they can help swifts at home."

The competition is part of Oxford swift city, a two-year project to improve the outlook for swifts in Oxford, and has been supported by the Heritage Lottery Fund.

A helter skelter, brass band and dancers all added to the sparkle at this year's light switch on

Making a song and dance of switch on

OXFORD city centre is shining brightly after the Christmas lights were switched on following a three-day celebration.

The theme for this year's lights is The World in Oxford, and a collection of illuminated and interactive installations honour the diversity, history and connections of the city.

Kicking off the Oxford Christmas Light Festival were 400 young people from schools and community groups who took to the streets to parade alongside brass band Mr Wilson's Second Liners.

On Friday there was a festive market in Broad Street and performances by Dancin' Oxford and the brass band returned for a musical finale.

Throughout the weekend there were a host of activities including free lantern making workshops at Oxford Castle, art, craft and weaving sessions, street performers, theatrical shows, performances by 25 choirs from across the county in Sing Christmas and local bands and singers displayed their talent at the Broad Street stage.

This year's event also marked the opening of the redeveloped Westgate.

In the centre's Leiden Square was a Wheels of Industry installation created by artist Stu Langley, which included three Robin Reliant cars with stained glass windows featuring iconic British images which were lit up by public pedal power.

Brendan Hattam, general manager at Westgate Oxford Alliance, said: "Oxford is such a magical city at any time of year, but never more so than in the run up to Christmas and we believe celebrating The World in Oxford for this year's Christmas Light Festival is a fitting festive theme.

"We're excited to be working with the city council for our first Christmas open to the public and we are looking forward to welcoming residents and visitors into Westgate Oxford and extending the reach and vision of the festival across the city centre."

Councillor Dee Sinclair, Oxford City Council's board member for culture and communities, described it as an "event to remember".

Little Britain star shows support for filmmakers

By Samantha McGregor

A GROUP of budding filmmakers are making a last-ditch appeal to raise funds to finish filming their comedy show.

Ross Arrowsmith and Scott Morgan from Bicester are just £2,500 away from their crowd funding campaign target to enable five more episodes to be made.

Last month the pair completed the pilot episode of show In Other News, a comedy documentary about a local television station.

They need to raise £6,500 to cover the costs to complete the six-part series.

Last week the team were given a boost after comedian, writer and actor Matt Lucas endorsed their appeal on Twitter.

Lucas, best known for BBC show Little Britain, said: "In other news, these young comedians are raising money for their own TV show. You can find out more here..."

The comedian has almost a million followers on Twitter.

The show is set just after the launch of fictitious TV channel South UK TV Oxfordshire and documents the escapades of the people behind the scenes as they report on "ridiculous" news stories and overcome technical difficulties.

Ross said the idea for the show came from humorous situations he and Scott encountered while working in local TV.

He said: "Getting this project fully up and running means a great deal to me. As someone at the start of their filmmaking career, this project could lead to all kinds of opportunities, not just for me but for cast and crew involved.

"It would mean not only having the funds to make five more episodes, but having the community of backers built up during the campaign to watch the finished product, and it also proves to TV channels we plan on pitching it to that the idea is popular enough to be successfully crowd funded – if all continues going well."

He added: "Having just hit over £4,000, it really feels like we're getting onto the home straight with just over 10 days still to go."

The force launched the campaign #ProtectYourWorld on Monday, with the aim of raising awareness and encouraging residents and businesses to take action and make a report if they fall victim.

Detective Superintendent Gill Wootton, head of the TVP specialist ops department, said cyber crime affects people 'from all walks of life' and encouraged people to take steps to protect themselves.

He said: "People can be targeted for a number of reasons, and it can take a long time before they realise that they have become victims."

Vehicle for energy change

A SUPERMARKET and Formula One engineers have teamed up to roll out a ground-breaking piece of technology that will reduce yearly energy consumption by the equivalent of 320million boiled kettles.

Grove-based Williams and Sainsbury's announced last week they have joined forces to create the Aerofoil, which hopes to tackle energy-hungry and costly refrigeration in supermarkets.

The device, already tested in labs, has shown up to 30 per cent reductions in energy consumption, and has been trialled in 50 Sainsbury's stores.

The two companies will be applying the technology across 1,400 supermarkets and stores in the UK.

Refrigerators are the largest consumer of power in supermarkets.

Craig Wilson, managing director at Williams Advanced Engineering, said they hope to solve some of society's demanding challenges.

He said: "Working with Sainsbury's shows how Formula One can be a vehicle for change and is another example of how we engineer advantage for our customers.

"As air quality and sustainability concerns revolutionize traditional industries, there is huge growth potential for our business in deploying energy efficient technology in a range of sectors, not just automotive."

Sainsbury's head of sustainability, engineering, energy and environment, Paul Crewe, said: "By keeping the cold air in our fridges using this technology, we'll see an energy reduction of up to 15 per cent, which, when multiplied across all of our stores is a significant amount of energy saved."

Plea for UEFA director to come home

By Eva Astreinidou

THE wife of a former UEFA director who has now been missing for a month is pleading with him to come home in time for Christmas so they can 'rebuild their lives'.

Police believe Bernard Ross was in the south of France but may have travelled to Switzerland, where he used to work.

The 51-year-old was last seen in Oxford, where he lives, on October 18.

His wife Jacinta said he has had an 'appalling year' since being diagnosed with bipolar disorder in January.

His wife said psychiatrists think the forthcoming anniversary of his last day at work could trigger 'dangerous thoughts'. Speaking to the Press Association, she said: "It's essential he takes his medication every day.

"We think when he left he would have had about 28 days of medication with him, maybe more, so he will be running out soon if he has been taking it.

"Shortly before he disappeared his treatment seemed to start working and I felt like I was beginning to get my husband back again."

In her plea to her husband, she said: "Bernie, we all miss you desperately. I understand. Please just come back and we can rebuild our lives."

She added: "I feel like the sense of urgency (among the authorities) has been lost. Time is of the essence, his family is desperate to have him home for Christmas."

Mr Ross is believed to be travelling around Europe on a fold-up Brompton bicycle. He was seen in Marseille and Grasse last month before it is believed he crossed into Switzerland.

Mr Ross is described as 5ft 7in tall and of medium build.

Researchers win top prize for refugee support tool

AN initiative led by Oxford University to support refugees has won a national award.

The team from the Centre on Migration, Policy and Society, COMPAS, created a Destitution Toolkit, an online tool which helps agencies, organisations and local authorities access housing and financial support for the most vulnerable.

It was joint winner of the 2017 Community Integration Awards alongside the history project Our Migration Story by the Runnymede Trust.

The awards, now in the second year, were set up to celebrate the best UK organisations which are working to integrate refugees, migrants and local communities.

The idea of the toolkit is to provide information about where migrant families can get support when they are not entitled to benefits.

In making their decision the judges said it was "especially welcome at a time when many local agencies are struggling to provide services after cuts to their funding".

Dr Sarah Spencer, a director at COMPAS, said: "Our research found there was a gap between the expectation in law that children in need would always be supported by local authorities and the reality on the ground.

Researchers Jacqueline Broadhead and Jonathan Price collected the award at a ceremony in London

"Our on-line tool addresses that gap and we are delighted to have won this award because it shows how research can lead to real change, for those providing legal advice and services and most importantly for destitute children and their parents."

Larger museum set to showcase hidden histories

By Eva Astreinidou

FINAL designs for a £2.8million project that will triple the size of the Museum of Oxford have been unveiled.

The plans were discussed in a meeting earlier this week, with Oxford City Council pledging to contribute more than £926,000 to the project, following an initial pledge of £315,000.

The proposed redevelopment, called Oxford's Hidden Histories, will increase the number of exhibits from 286 to 750, with two new galleries and a new space – called Museum Makers – where schoolchildren and communities will be able to handle exhibits.

Councillor Dee Sinclair, executive board member for culture and communities, said: "The new Museum of Oxford will give a voice to the stories of the individuals, communities and businesses that have built our culturally-diverse city.

"A lot of work has been happening behind the scenes to get us to this point.

"We are now ready to push on with this exciting project, which will celebrate the rich, fascinating and world-famous history of our city and its people."

The cost of the redevelopment has been estimated at £2.8m following building surveys which also revealed asbestos and damp in the basement of the old museum.

The council will submit an application for a £1.6m grant to the Heritage Lottery Fund (HLF) later this month.

This comes after £142,000 was already awarded to the council in 2016 to fund the redevelopment.

The council also intends to raise £451,000 through fundraising by the museum's development trust. So far, £43,993 been raised.

To create the new space, the old museum, which closed in 2011, will be knocked through with areas in the basement also being brought back into use.

The new museum entrance will be accessed from the foyer of Oxford Town Hall.

Until now, only outline plans had been produced. The detailed designs and the activity programme have been created using feedback from a consultation with residents over the summer months.

Images of how the new larger Museum of Oxford could look when completed in 2020

The city council began discussions about the project two years ago as a response to public demand and it is hoped the redevelopment work will be finished by 2020.

More than 75,000 people visit the Museum of Oxford every year.

College scoops award for action in the community

By George Welch

A COLLEGE praised for developing a moral and social code has won a national accolade for a 'forward-thinking' community project.

Abingdon & Witney College collected the Edge Award for Practical Teaching and Learning at an Association of Colleges (AoC) Beacon Awards ceremony in Birmingham last week.

The college, which boasts four campuses, was represented in three categories and collected its award for its Action Tap project, which encourages students to help causes within the community.

Principal Di Batchelor said it was a 'fantastic privilege' to win the award.

She said: "We are immensely pleased to have continued our proud tradition of being recognised in multiple categories at the awards.

"To have one of our amazing and forward-thinking social projects recognised on the national stage in further education is brilliant.

"The students and local community have fully engaged with this initiative, and the staff have worked tirelessly to get it to where it is today."

It involves students across business, accounting, sport, public services and events and tourism, who unite to work collaboratively on social action projects. Activities as part of the Action Tap project have included sports coaching at schools, helping to run and support charity events, weekly hospital visits and networking at local business events.

From left, BBC Breakfast's Steph McGovern, head of faculty Angela Hayles and head of projects and partnerships for the Edge Foundation, Jane Samuels

The college was a close runner-up in the two other categories: the AoC Award for Mental Health and Wellbeing and the Student of the Year Award, where former student Kirsty Newman only narrowly missed out on the top spot.

Carole Stott, chair of the AoC Charitable Trust, said: "Every year the Beacon Awards receive many excellent submissions and the high standard made it hard for assessors to determine the winning application in each category.

"All the entries demonstrated the commitment of colleges to create the best possible experience for their students. Abingdon and Witney College can be rightly proud to be named as the winners of their category."

Restaurant fire

A FIRE broke out at a Grade-II listed Chinese restaurant in Oxford.

Fire and rescue teams were called to a fire at My Sichuan restaurant at Gloucester Green last Thursday at 7.25am.

On arrival crews were faced with a blaze involving combustible waste at the rear of the building.

A group of fire fighters brought the external blaze under control, while others searched neighbouring buildings to check whether the fire had spread.

Most charming city

I SAY, Oxford has been officially named the most gentlemanly city in the UK.

A Gentleman's Journal survey of more than 2,000 people put the city at the top of the pile, with 54 per cent of people naming Oxford's men as the most gentlemanly.

Drinking too much and immature behaviour were named the most ungentlemanly traits, along with inattentiveness and not pulling your weight around the house.

London came second while Glasgow received the fewest votes for most gentlemanly men.

The study also revealed that people thought Italian men were the most stylish dressers, followed by the English and French.

Fire guts Elizabethan pub praised by Blanc

By George Welch

AN Elizabethan pub, praised by chef Raymond Blanc, has been gutted by a fire that closed the A40.

The kitchen of The Swan at Tetsworth was devastated by the blaze, which broke out shortly after midnight last Wednesday, but the rest of the building escaped damage.

Fire crews from Thame, Watlington and Slade Park prevented the inferno spreading from the restaurant at the Grade II-listed building near Milton Common to the adjoining antiques shop.

The nearby A40 was closed for several hours.

Incident commander, station manager Paul Webster said: "The sounding of a smoke alarm raised a near-by neighbour who called the fire service.

"Our crews were on the scene very quickly and along with a good routine of closing the doors in the property prevented this incident escalating and fire spreading to the antiques shop."

He added: "This type of incident reminds us all to check our smoke alarms because a fire like this can go undetected so easily and then the losses can be so much greater."

The kitchen at The Swan at Tetsworth has been destroyed by a blaze which closed the A40

Mr Blanc wrote in a national newspaper in 2015 that he enjoyed spending the day at The Swan.

The world famous chef has announced plans to take on his first Oxfordshire pub, The Black Horse in Thame.

The 68-year-old's new venture is six miles from his two Michelin-starred Great Milton restaurant Le Manoir aux Quat'Saisons, while his other Oxfordshire restaurant – Brasserie Blanc – is in Jericho, Oxford.

Cash boost for homeless café project

A NEW café is being launched in Oxford to help homeless people in the city learn new skills.

Oxford's St Giles's Church plans to open the café which will be staffed by people who are homeless and those who used to be.

The project has been given a £2,000 boost by Andrews Charitable Trust, a trust run by Andrews Property Group.

Organisers say the café will provide training and work opportunities to society's most vulnerable and is also intended to help "break down the stigma and stereotyping" of homeless people.

Associate Priest Tom Albinson, who is leading the café project, said: "The term 'homeless' is something of a catch-all and rarely used in any positive sense.

"Even for those who have come out the other side and are no longer homeless, we find that they're still stigmatised by their former status.

"The Respite Café, by giving these people the opportunity to gain useful training and work-based experience, is breaking down some of this negativity and starting to build up the confidence of those who work here.

Ian Yates from Andrews Property Group hands the cheque over to The Reverend Tom Albinson for the café

"We have quite consciously ensured that the service and quality at the café is premium so that that too helps to challenge expectations.

"We're enormously grateful for the financial support that we've received from Andrews Charitable Trust to make this vision a reality.

"Simply, without this funding we would not have been able to invest in the commercial-quality equipment we felt was necessary for this venture."

Respite Café at St Giles is one of six projects to receive funding from the trust.

Organiser Malcolm Dent said: "This is a good opportunity to taste Romanian wines produced in wineries in the Subcarpathian Hills bordering the majestic Transylvanian Alps also known as the Carpathians."

Wine will be served with cheeses, as well as Romania's famous Telemea, pates and savoury biscuits.

RAF base honoured for all-round achievement at home and abroad

By George Welch

AN Oxfordshire air base has been given a prestigious award for its standout performance in 2016.

The Stainforth Trophy was presented to RAF Benson by the Chief of the Air Staff, Air Chief Marshal Sir Stephen Hillier, in a special honours and awards ceremony last week.

The accolade is awarded annually to the station deemed to have contributed the most to the delivery of air power, while maintaining a high level of community engagement, honouring and protecting heritage, charitable fundraising and sporting activity.

Stations have to submit a report detailing their activities for the previous year through the chain of command, where it is subject to rigorous scrutiny.

Last year RAF Benson was heavily committed to operations and exercises across the world, including the ongoing Puma deployment in Afghanistan.

Several squadrons marked significant anniversaries with parades, while numerous personnel were commended for their personal and professional achievements.

Community engagement continued throughout the year with many well-received events and activities, such as the refurbishment of the war memorial at Berinsfield and Armed Forces Week, when a Chinook visited Wallingford.

The Puma Force also delivered Santa to the John Radcliffe Children's Hospital with gifts.

Speaking at the base, the Air Chief Marshal, who also presented medals and commendations to personnel in recognition of their individual achievements, said: "It is a real pleasure and privilege for me to be here to make sure we properly recognise some fantastic achievements.

"The Stainforth Trophy is a combination of the awards presented today and the achievements of RAF Benson as a whole, at home and overseas. My congratulations to the whole station."

On receiving the award, Group Captain Hamish Cormack, station commander of RAF Benson, said: "It is a genuine honour to command RAF Benson and I am truly delighted the quiet professionalism consistently shown by the men and women here has been recognised by this award.

"The Benson team can feel justifiably proud of the part they have played, and continue to play, in our many achievements."

Natural beauty must be protected from developers

CAMPAIGNERS fighting to protect green spaces are warning areas of natural beauty will be 'lost under concrete'.

A new report by the Campaign to Protect Rural England (CPRE) shows almost 15,500 houses have been approved in Areas of Outstanding Natural Beauty in the past five years despite their 'protected' status.

The report Beauty Betrayed: how reckless housing development threatens England's AONBs shows that of the eight AONBs under most pressure, three are in Oxfordshire - the North Wessex Downs, the Chilterns and the Cotswolds, with the latter topping the list with 62 housing schemes proposed over the last five years.

Now, the group is saying government is 'failing' to protect England's celebrated landscapes from mass housing developments.

Helen Marshall, director of CPRE Oxfordshire, said: "[The report] shows the importance of taking into account the cumulative impact of development. Our AONBs are our most precious landscapes and we must avoid them being undermined in dribs and drabs."

She said the report will be of particular interest for areas such as west Oxfordshire, where a number of applications for development in the AONB are due to be decided in the next month.

She added: "[The report is also] extremely relevant in the North Wessex Downs area, where the Vale of White Horse District Council is proposing 1,000 houses at Harwell, despite previous proposals being rejected by a planning inspector."

The campaign group is urging that all AONBs be consulted over major development proposals in their area before planning applications are considered, adding that developers are applying too much pressure on local authorities.

Affordable housing scheme for Graven Hill

HOUSING association Bromford will take on the first tranche of affordable homes at Cherwell's self-build site Graven Hill.

Graven Hill has permission for 1,900 homes in what will be the UK's largest self-build community.

West Midlands-based Bromford, which has 28,271 homes across its central England operating area, will take ownership of 59 homes in the next financial year, which includes 27 for affordable rent and 32 for shared ownership.

Philippa Jones, Bromford's chief executive, said: "We're really excited to be working with Graven Hill on what is a truly pioneering development for Britain's house building sector and one which will act as a trailblazer for a new way of delivering customised homes and empowering communities."

Graven Hill's managing director Karen Curtin said: "We are delighted to welcome Bromford as a key partner in this development.

"With 30 per cent of the site providing affordable homes, we are confident that we have the same shared vision that will bring forth a diverse community at Graven Hill and we look forward to welcoming the first new residents in spring 2018."

The former Ministry of Defence land will eventually form a new village across 462 acres – the equivalent of 300 football fields.

It is being delivered in phases over the next 10 years and will also include a school, community centre, pub, shops, play area and sports pitches.

Police take calls about bagpipes and late pizzas

By Eva Astreinidou

POLICE receive thousands of emergency phone calls, but some of those may be from babies, people asking how to call 101, or even callers who want to complain about their pizzas.

Thames Valley Police released a catalogue of too-good-to-be-true calls and questions that have come into the force's control room, in a live Tweetathon last week.

The live tweeting session, using the hashtag #When2Call, was aimed at giving the public an insight into the volume and type of calls that come through to the police and highlight the demand on policing.

Examples included 999 calls from babies who had been given a phone to play with, as well as more than 20 calls received in one day that were all pocket dials.

The officers also said that from August 2016 to August 2017, there were two 999 calls complaining about someone playing the trumpet, nine calls complaining about bagpipes, and 16 calls complaining about guitars.

There was also a caller who dialled 999 to ask what the number for 101 is.

Another caller reported "My McFlurry has not been stirred properly", while another wanted to report a takeaway for stealing his pizza as it hadn't been delivered within the 30-minute specified time.

In keeping with the pizza theme, another person reported that his pizza had arrived with pepperoni, not the preferred ham, complaining that the takeaway would not take this back after he'd eaten half.

While many of the cases were not police matters, the officers took time to advise people about what to do in case of a fire, when to call 999, as well as when to report a collision with an animal.

Under the Roads Traffic Act 1988, if the following animals have been hit by vehicles it needs to be reported to police: pig, cattle, goat, ass, sheep, horse, mule and dog.

The force stressed to only call 999 in an emergency; when a crime is being committed, there is a threat to life or risk of injury, or serious risk of damage to property.

The Pavement Poet caught in action in 2016 and below, in Oxford last week

Poet's words on the street

THE Pavement Poet made a visit to Oxford earlier this month to transcribe his work for all to see.

Danny Rowland, a poet who travels around from town to town and writes poetry on the pavements of the towns and cities as he passes through them, left his mark on Cornmarket Street.

Speaking about the poems, he said: "Loosely put, my poetry is inspired by three simple things: what I see, what I think and what I feel.

"Today's poetry was simply a mixture of my take on such things.

"From global events to observations of nature and the magic to be found when the time is taken to smash the clock and get lost."

Students offered free mouth cancer checks at college

FREE tests to check for mouth cancer will be rolled out to students in Banbury.

Banbury and Bicester College students are invited to take part in free mouth cancer screenings today (Thursday) to raise awareness as part of this year's mouth cancer action month.

Students aged 16 years and over and staff can receive the screening carried out by specialists from Mydentist to test for the cancer, which claims more lives than cervical and testicular cancer combined.

Councillor Hilary Hibbert-Biles, Oxfordshire County Council's cabinet member for public health, said: "There is not enough awareness surrounding mouth cancer. Keeping people aware of early symptoms is essential to give themselves the best possible chance to be treated quickly and successfully."

Mouth cancer is one of the UK's fastest increasing cancers. More than 7,000 people in the UK were diagnosed with it last year.

Risk factors include alcohol, tobacco, diet and HPV (human papillomavirus) which is more common in the under 25s.

The event has been organised by Community Dental Services, who deliver oral health promotion throughout the region on behalf of OCC.

Hearing aids can do more than improve your hearing.

Following a survey carried out in 2015 by Anovum (a market research company) on 1325 hearing impaired people (605 hearing aid wearers and 720 not wearing hearing aids). The survey reports that hearing aids not only improve capabilities of hearing well but also improved the general health of hearing aid wearers compared to hearing impaired people who do not wear a hearing aid. Hearing aid users are less likely to think they have the symptoms of dementia, feel less physically and mentally exhausted, sleep better and are less likely to suffer from depression.

The survey confirms what some Audiologists have suspected for some time, that hearing aids are not only good for correcting hearing loss but in fact contribute to better and more active lives, better quality of life, and better overall health.

For the hearing impaired workers who wear a hearing aid it is reported that their hearing aids are useful for their job and that the hearing aids also increase the chance of them getting promoted, being in the right job and getting more salary compared to those hearing impaired people who have not obtained hearing aids.

The full report can be found at EuroTrak UK 2015 – ehima

A new hearing system is just the beginning and a hearing aid system is only as good as the audiologist prescribing and programming it.

At Keith Donaghy Hearingcare we offer the best bespoke hearing aid systems virtually unnoticeable fitting comfortably into your ear.

Keith will help you every step of the way whilst you adjust to your new hearing ability, for some this takes months for others a matter of a few weeks but Keith is always on hand to answer questions or give advice on getting the best from your system. The last thing he wants (as is often the case when insufficient aftercare is available) is for your hearing aids to end up in the back of a drawer somewhere, unused because you felt that nothing else could be done to rectify any programming or rehabilitation problems.

Keith wants to know if you have any concerns about your hearing aids, no matter how big or small, so that you and he can work together to achieve the best results.

Ultrafast broadband to boost rural businesses

By George Welch

A COLLECTION of south Oxfordshire farms will be the first in the county to harvest the benefits of an initiative that gives them access to ultrafast broadband speeds.

Eleven farms and households in tiny Goosey Wick, near Charney Bassett, between Stanford in the Vale and East Hanney, were the first to sign up to a new £600,000 co-funding initiative.

The arrival of ultrafast broadband in around 12 months' time will be a welcome boost for farmers who are diversifying into new fields, including letting out cottages as well as other residents wanting the option of working from home.

The project will provide download speeds of up to one Gigabit per second (Gbps) – about 1,000 times faster than the village's current speeds.

Resident Jill Campbell said: "The new fibre service will make such a difference to the lives of the people of all ages who live and work here, including younger members of the community who rely on the internet for so much of their studies and homework these days."

The project at Goosey Wick is a 'major' engineering challenge involving the installation of around 13 kilometres of fibre optic cabling by BT (Openreach) engineers.

Residents have helped keep costs down by offering to use their own equipment to do some of the digging.

County councillor David Bartholomew, responsible for broadband and communications, said: "We're on track for superfast broadband to reach 96 per cent of Oxfordshire premises by the end of 2018, but rolling out high-speed broadband to the final four per cent is challenging and needs new and innovative solutions.

"Our co-funding scheme is just one of the ways we're working hard to enable more communities to access this vital technology, and contributing to our ambition to make Oxfordshire one of the best-served counties in the UK for digital infrastructure."

The co-funding partnership is led by Oxfordshire County Council and BT as part of the government's broadband delivery UK programme.

Under the scheme, the county council will contribute up to £1,700 per premise, with Openreach carrying out the upgrade work.

Youngsters have a splashing way to help sick children

CHILDREN from an Oxfordshire swimming class have paddled their way to raising more than £1,000 for sick babies.

Youngsters from Puddle Ducks swimming school raised the cash by learning water safety and survival skills, dressed in their favourite pyjamas.

The money has been donated to SSNAP (Support for the Sick Newborn and their Parents), based at Oxford's John Radcliffe Hospital.

Beccy Stenson, of Puddle Ducks, said: "We're so proud of all the children, past and present, who have taken part in our charity pyjama event.

"They all came eager to learn and dressed head to toe in their pyjamas.

"We want every child to love swimming, respect the water and swim beautifully. That's why we make sure our classes are fun and sociable."

Swimmers have raised a total of £4,710 for local good causes over the last four years.

New home for bed company

OXFORDSHIRE'S oldest independent bed business celebrated its 30th anniversary last week with the official launch of its new showroom, in the company's hometown of Abingdon.

Abingdon Beds & Interiors has moved from its landmark corner of Spring Road into new premises a mile down the road to a new retail warehouse on Marcham Road.

The move is the first in the company's history since Howard and Angela Alsworth opened the business in 1987, with just two staff.

Now a team of six, the company remains in the family with the couple's sons, Ashley and Gareth Alsworth, at the helm.

The new 7,000 square foot premises has allowed the business to extend its range, with extra customer parking as well.

Gareth said: "We have been on the corner of Spring Road for the past three decades and during that time we have built up a great reputation across Oxfordshire. The move is the start of an exciting era for the business."

Take a tour of theatre with trip among stars

By Samantha McGregor

A NEW Christmas show taking visitors on a journey of the history of the New Theatre is coming to the Oxford stage.

Children and adults can take a magical journey around the theatre with festive production Amongst the Stars.

Set in 1955, preparations are in place for Christmas at the Theatre, but trouble is brewing – the leading lady has lost her precious necklace and can't go on until it's found.

Step back in time and join the theatre manager of the day on a journey around New Theatre Oxford to search for the missing jewels.

On the way the audience will come across all sorts of people who want to help, and a suspicious looking character who knows more than he is letting on.

With the help of the audience the necklace is found, order is restored, and a happy Christmas is guaranteed for all in this show, made by Herringbone Arts, especially for New Theatre Oxford.

Herringbone Arts is an award-winning company, who create shows for young children and their families featuring actors, puppetry and live music.

Their shows are promenade style, with exciting stories happening around the audience as they walk through unexpected places that have been transformed into magical worlds.

Artistic directors Nicky Herrington and Fran Malone have been researching the history of New Theatre Oxford, and talking to staff and relatives of staff who used to work in the venue in times gone by.

These stories have helped them to create Amongst the Stars, a truly unique Christmas show for Oxford audiences.

Performed by two actors and a cast of puppets, Amongst the Stars is most suitable for children aged four to seven-years-old.

The show opens on Saturday December 9 and runs at various times during the day until December 23.

Tickets from the New Theatre box office in George Street, by calling 0844 871 3020 or go to atgtickets.com/oxford.

On stage: Review, Samantha McGregor

DANCING Queens were not disappointed on the opening night of Mamma Mia at Oxford's New Theatre - the smash hit musical was a huge success.

The West End musical literally blasted onto the stage on Wednesday and the cast belted out Abba's classic tunes one by one – including a couple we didn't recognise.

Set on a small Greek island, Mamma Mia is the story of love and friendship and one young woman's search for her father.

In Wednesday's production Kay Milbourne, who played Donna Sheridan, found her voice in the second half and nailed-it, while Lucy May Barker, who played Sophie Sheridan, was fantastic.

We loved the comedy lines and actions from both Gillian Hardie, who plays Rosie, and Emma Clifford who was Tanya.

Of particular mention was their rendition of Chiquitita – which raised a few laughs, and also Does Your Mother Know, which was comical and also a little tongue-in-cheek treat for the ladies in the audience.

By the end, pretty much the entire audience was on its feet clapping and cheering.

The show has been seen by more than 60 million people worldwide and for us was a real treat, we certainly left the theatre on a high and wanting more.

Catch the show at the New Theatre until November 25, tickets from the box office, by calling 0844 871 3020 or by view atgtickets.com/oxford

'Music that Rea-lly interests me'

By Samantha McGregor

THE legendary Chris Rea is stopping off in Oxford on the final few dates of a European tour.

Celebrating the release of his album Road Songs for Lovers, Chris takes to the stage at the New Theatre on Saturday, December 9.

His current tour has seen him play in Germany, Estonia, Russia, Belgium and more.

The English singer/songwriter, best known for tunes including The Road to Hell, Driving Home for Christmas and Fool If You Think It's Over, has sold more than 30 million albums worldwide.

His latest album is filled with rock ballads that showcase Rea's unique husky voice and a song-writing skills.

Born in Middlesbrough in 1951, Rea released his debut album in 1978 and promptly had a huge US hit with the first track to be lifted off the album, Fool If You Think It's Over.

In 1983, Rea's fifth studio album Water Sign sold more than half a million copies after I Can Hear Your Heartbeat became a Top 20 hit all over Europe.

His follow up, Wired To The Moon, was also a success and led to tours of Europe. In 2000, Rea's King Of The Beach reached the Top 30 but after he was diagnosed with pancreatic cancer he was forced to take a break from recording.

Returning to his blues roots in 2005 he has since released a string of records and completed tours.

More ill health plagued him when in 2016 he had a stroke – he has since battled back to good health, releasing Road Songs for Lovers in September.

He said: "I was never a rock star or pop star and all the illness has been my chance to do what I'd always wanted to do with music.

"The best change for my music has been concentrating on stuff which really interests me."

And by that he means motor racing, painting and the blues.

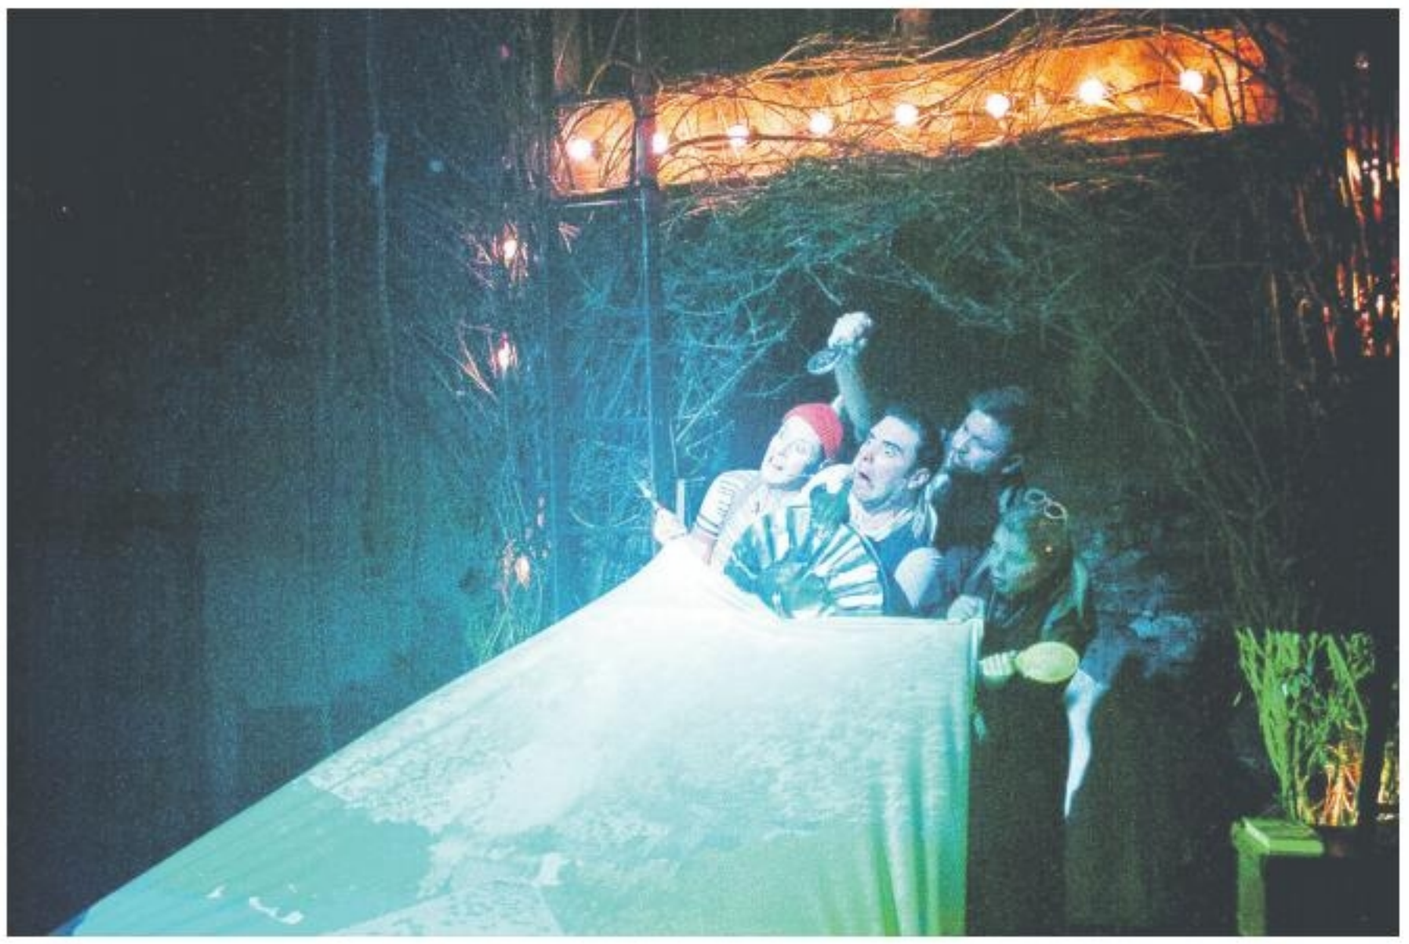
Out & About

Join Toad and friends on the river

By Samantha McGregor



THIS Christmas two theatre companies have teamed up bring a magical and imaginative re-telling of a heart-warming classic Wind in the Willows.

Creation Theatre Company has joined forces with Cherwell Theatre Company to present the show at Banbury's Mill Arts Centre from December 8 until December 30.

This is Creation's third Christmas at The Mill in Banbury – this year it brings back the much-loved Wind in the Willows from 2014, which has been adapted for the stage by Gari Jones and is directed by Tristan Pate of Cherwell Theatre Company.

Toad hasn't been seen since the most recent of his escapades backfired, Badger doesn't react well to visitors in the winter and Ratty and Mole have fallen into an adventure they didn't expect - or particularly want.

What's more, some troublesome weasels are plotting to take over Toad Hall.

How will peace be restored in The Wild Woods?

Creation Theatre producer Ginny Graham said: "Audiences loved our madcap Wind in the Willows at the North Wall in 2014, so we're really excited to bring it to Banbury this year. There'll be picnics, daring escapes and messing about in boats – we can't wait!"

For the past 21 years Creation Theatre has been performing classic stories and Shakespeare's plays in unusual spaces including Mini Plant, in Oxford and Blackwell's Bookshop.

So far, its shows have been seen by more than 500,000 people.

Creation also run an education programme which reaches 2,000 children every year through live performances, its weekly drama clubs, holiday workshops and courses in schools.

The team at Creation is also staging Charles Dickens' A Christmas Carol, at Oxford's North Wall Arts Centre.

Join the fun to find out and try out The Mill's newly refurbished stalls seating.

For more information and tickets call Creation's Box Office on 01295 279002 or go to themillartscentre.co.uk

"I honestly believe that Colourfence is the best general purpose fencing product on the market today!"

Get ready for Autumn

Now's the perfect time to replace your garden fence once and for all. Anna Ryder Richardson - Designer and Television Presenter - takes a closer look at Colourfence, the revolutionary low-maintenance system.

It's been ten years since I regularly graced TV screens helping transform people's living spaces with MDF and stripped floorboards. Recently it's been more "celebrity muck out" than "celebrity make-over" as I took up the challenge of owning my own Wildlife Zoo in Tenby. In this time I've learnt quiet a lot about fences and having researched the various options for my own benefit I thought I would share my knowledge with a wider audience.

The latest design processes mean there is now a tremendous array of fencing products for you to choose from, constructed from a variety of materials. Each has its own attributes, and ultimately it can often come down to a matter of personal preference. For me, there was one unique system that stood out as providing the best balance between price and functionality which eradicates fencing problems for good. Or for at least 25 years. Colourfence. For quality, value, longevity, aesthetic design, this fencing system ticks all the boxes. Fencing made for the 21st century that will transform the look of your garden which is supplied and fitted by a company whose customer service is as good as the product.

In my view, Colourfence is the 'Rolls Royce' of fencing – just without the exclusive price tag. What's more, it's guaranteed to stay in place in up to 130mph winds and is virtually maintenance free.

To find out how the experts from Colourfence might help you, I suggest you call 01865 582 171 and speak to their team.

Colourfence: The ultimate garden fence?

For many Colourfence is perhaps the ultimate choice. For the last 15 years it's been widely used across the UK and has steadily gained a reputation for its quality. By using the highest specification Colorbond steel in the fence structure itself, complemented by the highest level of customer service from accredited Franchisees, Colourfence is now regarded by many as the premier fencing solution in the market. Immune to the rot and resistant to the weather that so quickly effects wooden fences, Colourfence has none of the drawbacks of wood - plenty of additional benefits and what's more it's better value!

Q No matter what I treat my wooden fence with - nothing seems to prevent it rotting or looking shabby for very long.

A Treating your fence is a thankless and expensive task. It's also a losing battle. Wood simply want's to rot. Colourfence offers a low-maintenance alternative where by an occasional wash down will keep it looking great for up to 25 years! GUARANTEED!†

DIDCOT STREET FAIR TO ROCK TO THE SOUNDS OF THE '60s

Even if you were not a child of the '60s, no doubt you will be familiar with the music of the 'Swinging Sixties'. This was the decade that launched bands such as the Beatles, the Rolling Stones, The Who and the Beach Boys. Now Didcot Street Fair will be bringing back this memorable music at their Street Fair to be held on Thursday 30th November from 4.00 pm to 9.00 pm.

Not only will the event feature a host of traders and craftspeople selling their wares along the Broadway, there will be fun fairs and plenty to eat and drink as you look for unusual Christmas gifts. Then go along and enjoy the music and get into the rhythm as The Orchard Centre and Broadway open up their stages.

The music starts with the Rock Choir at 5.00 pm with a rendition of Motown hits. They will be followed by Colin Blunstone, lead singer from the iconic 60's band 'The Zombies' who had hits such as 'She's Not There' and 'Time of the Season', will open the event officially at 5.45 pm at The Orchard Centre. Fans will be able to meet Colin and talk to him about this legendary career.

He will be followed immediately thereafter by Tony Prince 'The Royal Ruler'. Tony was a former programme controller and DJ with Radio Luxembourg and he will be joining the Street Fair to launch his new radio station D-LuxRadio which will go live on the 1st January 2018. He will also be doing a live show broadcast, recreating the magical sounds of the 60s and will also be happy to sign copies of his book 'The Royal Ruler and the Railway DJ.'

For fans of the Beatles, come along and listen to Dirty Bizzness at 7.45 pm playing Beatles and rock covers. They will be followed by the UK's premier Rolling Stones and The Who cover band 'Who Stoned Who' at 8.30 pm.

A second stage located in the Broadway outside Boots will showcase local talent from the town including the Didcot Indie band The Brixtons, the town's new choir Vocalize, Elvis tribute singer Brian Davis, vintage duo The LuLaLas and Didcot's Little Angels.

A parade with over 150 walkers, musicians and entertainers will set off at 7pm from the Civic Hall and reach the Lower Broadway at 7.30 pm. Look out form Herbie and FAB1!

We've gone Christmas crackers!

Treat yourself and your home to a beautiful New Driveway or Patio and get £200 in John Lewis vouchers when you book by 24th December 2017.

PLUS! £500 WORTH OF FREE DRAINAGE PRODUCTS!

Your home is your greatest asset, and you've worked hard for it.

We know you care about the impression your home makes on your friends, your family and your neighbours, and you value quality and style.

So you need to be certain that your new driveway is designed to enhance your home, built from the finest materials and engineered to last.

Let's be honest – the driveway business doesn't enjoy the best reputation, with expensive, hard-sell national home improvement firms at one end and cheap fly-by-night operations at the other.

We think you deserve better.

So we looked closely at the problems associated with our industry and built an entirely new model.

We founded the the New Driveway Company to bring a new level of professionalism, design and customer service to the homeowners of Oxford.

Call us now and book your FREE design meeting.

Ford Fiesta Titanium 1.0 EcoBoost

Modern day Fiesta creating history

By Tony Yates

BACK when I was nipper, my father bought my mother a brand new Ford Fiesta XR2 – and I remember thinking at the time how magnificent it looked parked all white and sexy on our drive. I also remember thinking that one day I will have such a car on my own drive.

Well, if we fast forward 30 odd years - you will still find that exact same XR2 tucked away in the garage at my family home.

Yes, the exact same car my mother had. And the reason for this is simple – as a family, we all loved that little Fiesta so much, that none of us ever wanted to part with it, so we never did.

Of course, that's a lovely story I hear you shout, but why?

Well, I'm not sure – all I know is the little Fiesta melted our hearts and I would like to think that in another 30-40 years from now, the model you see before you today in this review will have its own little part in history.

What's not to like about the new Ford Fiesta Titanium 1.0 EcoBoost?

Power & efficiency

This, of course, neatly introduces you to this week's road test of the wonderful little Fiesta 'Titanium'. My test car was powered by a1.0-litre EcoBoost turbo-charged petrol engine with 170Nm of Torque - 125PS of Ford Power, a 0-62 time of around 9.9 seconds and a top speed of around121mph.

At first, I expected the little Fiesta to sound wheezy because of its 1.0 Eco Boost engine, but to be honest - I was wrong. When you rev it hard it sounds almost 'racy'. Of course, you may all be thinking that a small engine equals small power? Well not necessarily so. Then again, the Fiesta won't break the sound barrier either, but what it will do is move you along at a spirited pace. I also quite like how the little Eco Boost performs out on the open road too. So, when you consider its small size, that's quite staggering - truth be told.

On the road

As with all of Ford's small eco-warriors – it changes direction like it's on rails and it holds the road well, but it does feel a little bouncy. I did, however, find the little Fiesta a joy to drive no matter what the road conditions were doing beneath me. The brakes also felt good and firm too. And, as for the suspension - it actually absorbed England's bumpy roads really well, although as I said earlier - it was a little on the bouncy side, but in a fun way.

Safety & technology

Some of the kit you get on the 'Titanium' model includes; Ford SYNC 3 Navigation with 8" touchscreen, DAB radio, keyless start with Ford Power button, rain sensing wipers, Electronic Stability Program (ESP) Hill Start Assist, remote central locking, Tyre Pressure Monitoring System, Ford easy fuel, and a quickclear heated windscreen.

Plus, 16" 10-spoke alloy wheels, Halogen projector headlamps with LED daytime running lights, front fog lamps with cornering lights, LED night signature to rear lights, cruise control and a whole host of additional extras not mentioned here.

To sum up

I am going to finish it here, but, I'm going to give the Fiesta four stars in this test, not only because I like how it looks on the outside, but also because I believe it's worth taking a look at because after all –it's a Ford Fiesta. What's not to like about that!

Massa's high hopes for final race

By George Welch

F1 - Williams

THE retiring Felipe Massa is aiming high in his final race as he prepares to bow out of Formula 1 at the season finale in Dubai.

The Williams driver will hang up his helmet – again – after 15 years in the sport at Sunday's race in the United Arab Emirates, the place he thought he had retired 12 months ago.

He said: "It will be quite an emotional weekend as it will be my final race with Williams as well as my final race in Formula 1.

"I am looking forward to it and plan to enjoy every moment, to finish my Formula 1 career on a high note."

Chief technical officer Paddy Lowe added that part of the team's focus this weekend would be on making sure Massa ends his career on a good note.

According to reports, 36-year-old Massa is expected to make the move to the all-electric Formula E series.

With season four of Formula E starting next month it leaves Massa, who has previously stated his interest in the up-and-coming sport, with very little time to recover from the Formula 1 season, but opportunities could come his way soon.

Grove-based Williams head into the weekend knowing they will finish fifth in the constructors' championship.

Massa is 10th in the drivers' championship, 12 points behind Renault's Carlos Sainz.

Yas Marina also has sentimental value for the former world champion's teenage team-mate, Lance Stroll.

The Canadian is coming to the end of his rookie season and the last race of the last campaign was the first taster he had with Williams.

Stroll, who is two points behind Massa, said: "I went there last year just after I was confirmed as a Williams driver and it was a great event. In my view, it is a wonderful place to finish off the season.

"It is in the desert and they really put on a show, so this will certainly be a fitting end to the season."

He added: "The circuit itself wouldn't be my favourite as it is very stop and go and doesn't have a great flow to it but, despite that, the show is great and so good for the fans."

Progress made in first season for Hulkenberg

A FIRED-UP Nico Hülkenberg is ready to end his maiden season with Renault on a bright note as the team sets its sights on a sixth place finish.

The Enstone-based outfit are seventh, four points behind Toro Rosso, who have collected one point from the last five races.

To complicate matters, Banbury-based Haas are only two points behind Hülkenberg, Carlos Sainz and co.

A weary Cyril Abiteboul, the managing director of Renault Sport, said: "This race is almost a championship in itself as we are in a tight battle with Toro Rosso and Haas, and everything is still to play for.

"Either one of us could finish between sixth and eighth position so we are being very careful with our preparations.

"We will have to combine an approach that is at the same time attacking, as we need five points more than Toro Rosso to get sixth, but also conservative as we are just two points ahead of Haas."

Hülkenberg admitted it had been a frustrating campaign but progress has been made.

He said: "I head to Abu Dhabi hoping to score well. I want to kick back on Sunday night at Yas Marina with the team and celebrate a job well done.

"This year has been about progress and development. I've got to know a new team, and one that has been developing strongly."

The German added: "I think we have put many things in place behind the scenes, which will enable us to fight for better positions in the future, and that's always been the aim."

Appointments aim for a bounce in participation

Basketball

THE status of Basketball in Oxfordshire is set for a boost following the creation of a new promotional role.

Eileen Holmes-Ievers has taken up the newly-created publicity officer role for the Oxfordshire Basketball Association (OBA) to help, support and encourage basketball players of all ages across the county.

The OBA has also appointed Mark Sheehan as its new junior development officer to help expand the game.

Speaking about the new appointments, OBA chair Steven Claringbould said: "We are delighted that two such experienced people have agreed to take on these very important roles within the association.

"The role of junior development officer is crucial to developing the emerging talent of junior players here in Oxfordshire and Mark is the ideal person to carry out this role.

"Eileen has worked on publicity for other clubs and has great plans to help promote the association and clubs within the area."

Oxford Brookes University remained top of National League Division Three South with a narrow 81-80 win at Essex Blades.

In division four, Oxford Stealers won their first game of the season with a 74-59 home win on Saturday.

Highs and lows for Pepperell in season finale

Golf

HIGH scoring first and last rounds meant Eddie Pepperell finished in the lower third at the European Tour finale in Dubai.

The Abingdon man won't be too disappointed with his tied 48th finish though after a storming season earned him the right to play at the Dubai World Championships.

Pepperell finished 42nd in the Race to Dubai rankings following the UAE event as the top 60 contested the final competition of the season.

The Frilford Heath member hit three-over pars of 75 on Thursday and Sunday, although two impressive rounds in between gave him a chance of a top half finish.

The 26-year-old overcame a hectic front nine to card two-under par in round two.

Three birdies and four bogeys on the first nine were followed by birdies on the 10th, 13th and 15th to move him up to 46th.

Pepperell flirted with the top half and was 33rd after 54 holes following a third round of 66.

He carded four birdies and an eagle on the 15th for six-under par on Saturday.

But a top half finish wasn't to be, despite sinking a birdie on the first in round four. The encouraging start disappeared when he lost four shots between the fifth and ninth holes.

Pepperell finished on two-under par for a share of 48th and a €33,974 prize.

City climb out of relegation

By George Welch

Oxford City

A CONFIDENCE-BOOSTING four-match unbeaten run has lifted Oxford City out of the Vanarama National League South relegation zone.

City overtook Poole Town into 19th place with a 3-2 win home to Wealdstone on Saturday and a 0-0 draw at fellow strugglers Bognor Regis Town on Tuesday.

Happy Hoops boss Mark Jones praised his players following the 'hard earned' draw' against Bognor.

After picking up an eighth point from four games, he said: "We've battled hard so we'll take the point and we're five games unbeaten now [in all competitions].

"The lads had to really dig deep to get a point and credit to them for doing that. It's always good to keep a clean sheet away from home.

"We probably had the better chances but on the balance of play a draw was a fair result."

Bognor had goalkeeper Dan Lincoln to thank for two superb late saves to keep Zac McEachran and Ezra Forde out and secure the draw.

Things were livelier on Saturday when the Hoops were 2-0 up against Wealdstone within eight minutes.

Christian Oxlade-Chamberlain put them ahead after five minutes when he shot into an unguarded net having beaten Stones keeper Jonathan North to a long ball.

McEachran fired a first-time effort from 18 yards into the bottom corner three minutes later for the early two-goal cushion.

But Jones's men don't do things easily and the away side were back in it midway through the half when Abobaker Eisa fired past City keeper Jack Stevens from 12 yards.

The Hoops came out all guns blazing in the second half and McEachran (twice), Oxlade-Chamberlain and Freddie Grant all tested North.

The returning Reece Fleet thought he had sealed victory in the 87th minute with a neat finish into the bottom corner.

City were immediately pegged back by Eisa's second but held out for the win that lifted them up the table.

Magnificent seven leaves Nomads out in the cold

Hellenic round-up

OXFORD City Nomads' goal difference took a hammering on Saturday when they were thrashed 7-0 at league leaders Highworth Town.

Highworth have been the best team in the Hellenic Premier so far this season and their quality showed against an Oxford side that were only 2-0 down at half time.

Nomads, who face the same team in Oxford on Tuesday, leaked a further five goals in the second period, including a 93rd minute goal from Callum Parsons.

After a league draw and two cup defeats, Wantage Town got back to winning ways with a 3-0 win over Royal Wootton Bassett.

Former Bassett striker Steve Robertson netted a second half hat-trick against his old side at Alfredian Park as the Freds try to keep the pressure on Highworth at the league's summit.

Abingdon United's long wait for a win ended with a 3-2 win at Windsor on Tuesday, halting their hosts' nine-match winning streak with a first win of their own in 12 matches.

An own goal (6 minutes) and strikes from Kyle Morris (72) and Callum Harvey (82) secured the win for Abingdon, who fought back from 2-1 down. Jack Denton (14) and former Premier League striker Barry Hayles had put the home side in control after 23 minutes.

The comeback win followed a 1-1 at Flackwell Heath on Saturday, when Harvey grabbed a 92nd minute equaliser.

United host Highworth on Saturday before the Wiltshire side visit the Nomads three days later.

Puritans steal last-gasp point

Banbury United

A LATE equaliser from substitute Leam Howards rescued a point for Banbury United against high-flying Slough Town.

The striker pounced on a defensive howler to slot the ball into an empty net to make it 2-2 with three minutes left.

It was the second time the Puritans had to come from behind, as Elliot Sandy (24 minutes) cancelled out a James Dobson strike (7) in the first half.

Chris Flood looked to have secured the points for Slough with a 77th minute goal before sub Howards' late impact.

The Puritans also had to settle for a point in Saturday's 1-1 against St Neots Town.

In-form striker Conor McDonagh gave United the first half lead at the Banbury Plant Hire Community Stadium but they were pegged back by a Dylan Williams' goal early in the second half.

Teams enjoy a goal fest to secure weekend points

Evo Stik round-up

THERE were goals galore for all four of Oxfordshire's eighth-tier sides who enjoyed winning weekends at home.

Didcot Town, Kidlington and North Leigh all scored at least three goals each in Evo-Stik South West, while there was also a win for Thame United in the South East division.

Despite awful weather conditions, Didcot got back to winning ways with a 4-2 win over battling Barnstaple Town.

Remarkably there were no goals until the second half when the visitors took the lead on the hour through Lloyd Gardner.

The Railwaymen responded and were level just six minutes later when Felipe Barcelos scored via a post.

Adam Learoyd headed home to put Diddy ahead but, with the game into injury time, Barnstaple equalised.

But Sam Elkins and Barcelos scored even later to claim all the points.

An Anaclet Odhiambo brace and a Lewis Coyle goal fired Kidlington to a 3-0 win over Paulton Rovers while North Leigh, a place behind the Greens and two behind Didcot in the table, scored three themselves on the way to beating Bishops Cleeve 3-1.

Matt Grabe, Piers McGlynn and Michael Hopkins (p) got the goals for the Millers, who have now won three in a row.

Thame remain in the bottom half and are seven points off the South East play-offs following their 1-0 win against Uxbridge.

Dan West crashed a shot into the net off the underside of the bar from 10 yards for the only goal of the game midway through the first half.

Rising stars just love playing tennis

Tennis

OXFORDSHIRE'S rising tennis stars have been honoured at a special awards evening.

Junior players from eight to 18 were recognised for their efforts in the past year at the Oxfordshire Junior Tennis Awards.

Winner of the boys' award was Cameron Price who has represented the county from under 10 level to the senior Oxfordshire team.

Other winners included four up-and-coming players from Bicester Lawn Tennis Club, the only club to win gold awards in each category.

Members Esme Paddick (12, club coach's player, girl), Callum West (14, club coach's player, boy), Lucy Willoughby (9, most improved girl) and Ronan Goss (15, most improved boy) each took home the top awards in their respective categories.

Head coach Bianca Pallatt said: "As the only club in the county taking home gold awards in each category, I'm so proud of Esme, Callum, Lucy and Ronan.

"With a shortlist of more than 50 entries, each player clearly demonstrated their enthusiasm, commitment, passion and talent to the judges.

"The results not only showcase individual performance, but also demonstrate BLTC as one of the county's leading clubs."

The awards were hosted at Abingdon and Witney College earlier this month.

They were presented by Wimbledon wheelchair doubles champion Jordanne Whiley; Paralympian Marc McCarroll; Lucy Brown, one of Oxfordshire's highest achieving junior players, and Ed Isard fromAbingdon's White Horse Leisure & Tennis Centre.

Real team effort nets four goals and points

By George Welch

Plymouth Argyle 0
Oxford United 4

Ryan Ledson 15 (p), Wes Thomas 52, James Henry 68, Jon Obika 77

Attendance: 10,805 (837 away)

PEP Clotet praised the fighting character of his "superb" Oxford United side after they ended their winless run in emphatic fashion against Plymouth Argyle.

The U's comprehensively beat the struggling Devon side 4-0 on Saturday for a first win in seven games in all competitions.

Edwards was sent for an early shower and United made their extra man count in the second half with three further goals.

Thomas netted his seventh of the campaign before James Henry scored his first since mid-September and Jon Obika celebrated his first league goal in yellow.

The U's boss praised his squad's commitment following a difficult last few matches. He said: "The players put a lot of sacrifice into today and they worked very hard for each other.

"Not only that, they worked with a superb quality – they were superb in the effort, tactically they understood the game and exploited those areas we had joy and they were very solid in defence.

"For me it's hats off to the players."

The victory came after a tough week off the field with injuries to defender and skipper Curtis Nelson and midfield livewire Rob Hall.

Goalscorer Henry said the win made it a "perfect afternoon", adding: "They went down to 10 men early and it's always difficult to play against 10 men.

"Lego [Ryan Ledson] stuck away the penalty and we were a little disappointed with the rest of the first half [as] we didn't exploit the space in behind and we didn't move the ball quick enough.

"We came out in the second half all guns blazing and played some great football."

The winger, who has three goals to his name so far this season, added: "It was a really nice game to play in – everyone was fantastic.

"It's a real team effort. We wanted to do it for the injured boys."

Pitching new training ideas

MANAGER Pep Clotet has a rather unusual tool to help out on matchdays, in what is believed to be an English Football League first.

Covering an area of around five by 15 metres, a mini pitch has been installed in the Oxford United dressing room as part of a general refurbishment that began in pre-season.

The mini pitch of inlaid grass flooring is supposed to create a 'virtual' setting designed to boost team tactics

United business development manager Peter Rhoades-Brown said the players "really like the new surface". He said: "It not only brightens up the changing room area, but is also of valuable practical use.

"In particular it is ideal for developing tactics and set-pieces, as well as rethinking moves at half time.

"I think we are the first club to have gone down this route and all good so far."

Peter Toghill, the commercial director at ArtificialGrass.com, which installed the new dressing room pitch, said: "We wish the club every success this season and believe the initiative could lead the way for other clubs seeking to improve their status."

Eales's season ticket gesture raises £30k

THE combination of Oxford United fans and the generosity of chairman Darryl Eales have helped raise £30,000 for the club's community support group.

Eales promised in the summer that for every U's season ticket sold he would personally donate £5 to the club's community scheme.

With close to 4,800 season tickets sold the trust has enjoyed a terrific windfall, boosted further by Gift Aid, which will allow them to continue to engage with youngsters and grassroots clubs.

Chief executive of Oxford United in the Community, Kate Longworth, said: "It's impossible to overstate the impact of Darryl's generosity on the club's charitable programmes.

"Donations such as this latest one are crucial to the continuing improvement of the charity, and to its impact in the local community.

"More than this, though, Darryl models a culture which has led to a far greater awareness and understanding of those programmes, among staff and supporters of the club and beyond."

The charity uses football as a tool to help young people engage with their education, to develop confidence, aspirations and important life skills, as well as engaging with those children's families.

It has four main aims: social inclusion; sports participation and coaching; health and wellbeing and education, training and employment.

The chairman said: "The work of the community team should be the very foundation of what the club is trying to achieve.

"It is an absolute pleasure to be able to help and the club will continue to support Kate and her team in the huge range of fantastic projects they are working on."

Chairman Darryl Eales has given £30,000 to the community group

Buying pie at Kassam will cost you a crust

IT costs Oxford United fans more than most other SkyBet League One fans to buy a pie, according to the BBC's annual Price of Football report.

It will set you back £4 for your favourite Chicken Balti at the Kassam Stadium, up 50p on last year.

Charlton Athletic and AFC Wimbledon also charge £4 for a pie, £1.50 more than Blackpool and Rochdale who charge the division's lowest of £2.50.

While average season ticket and single matchday ticket prices in League One have been cut for the 2017-18 season, U's fans have been asked to stump up a little bit more for their yearly passes.

The club's cheapest season ticket has gone up £10 to £300 and the most expensive ticket had increased from £400 to £475.

Matchday tickets have remained similar, with no change in the cheapest ticket (£20) and a £4 jump to £28 for the most expensive seat.

Like most of the rest of the league, United are also charging more for their replica shirts, with adult shirts up £5 to £45 and junior ones up £1 to £35.

Clubs across the league have increased the cost of more ticket price categories than any of the other top five divisions in England.

And an away fan will now pay, on average, £20.48 for the cheapest single adult matchday ticket, which is up from £20.02.

SORRY Oxford United fluffed their opportunity to climb into the SkyBet League One play-offs with a disappointing 4-2 home defeat to a superb Blackburn Rovers side.

Rampant Rovers ran riot early on and were 3-0 up after 22 minutes in Tuesday's contest – if you could call it that.

A first half brace from defender Charlie Mulgrew and a simple goal from the in-form Marcus Antonsson inflicted the fatal damage early on and sapped any realistic Oxford hopes of gaining anything from the match long before half time.

United kept things interesting with a Jack Payne goal in first half injury time and a fine Jon Obika finish five minutes from time, but this was a game Blackburn controlled from start to finish.

The Lancashire side got off to a flier when a flicked corner found its way to Mulgrew at the far post to turn the ball into the net on six minutes.

Ten minutes later and it was two as things got messy for the U's, who were thoroughly outclassed by the league's pre-season title favourites.

A sloppy Aaron Martin pass was intercepted by Bradley Dack, who was blocked by John Mousinho and Simon Eastwood, but Antonsson was there to feed on the scraps and convert into an open net.

Oxford were all at sea and Tiendalli felled Dack in the area shortly afterwards – centre back Mulgrew slammed the spot kick into the bottom corner for 3-0.

The task facing United midway through the first half wasn't an enviable one, especially as Tony Mowbray's side had only conceded four goals on the road, the fewest in the EFL, heading into this one.

But mission impossible was made a tad easier on the cusp of half time when Payne, the only player in yellow to muster anything threatening at the Rovers goal in the first half, threw Pep Clotet's side a lifeline.

The Yellows enjoyed plenty of second half possession but Blackburn, sitting a lot deeper than in the first half, proved difficult to break down.

Payne and substitutes Xemi and Alex Mowatt fired 20-yarders at David Raya's goal after the hour, but the U's struggled to create anything clear-cut.

Blackburn didn't threaten much in the second period but extended their lead on a rare foray forward as the game headed into the final 20 minutes.

Dack headed over before a Martin clearance ricocheted off Nuttall and bobbled beyond the outstretched arms of Simon Eastwood, a former Blackburn goalkeeper, and into the net.

Substitute Obika forced Raya into a smart save before reducing the deficit back to two with a neat finish on 85 minutes.

The best team we've played

PEP Clotet refused to blame his defence, instead criticising himself after Tuesday's 4-2 defeat to 'easily the best team' in SkyBet League One.

Charlie Mulgrew was left unmarked for Blackburn's opener, a misplaced Aaron Martin pass gifted a second, Dwight Tiendalli fouled Bradley Dack in the area for the third and Martin failed to clear the ball for the fourth.

Defensive errors and the penalty decision – described by the United manager as "a little bit harsh" – gave Rovers a 3-0 headstart.

He said: "I'm critical with myself and I'll analyse the game to see how we can make it better. But it's about understanding as well that mistakes happen.

"We all know that mistakes happen in the game – and in life – and it's just about raising your hand up and saying 'okay, let's move forward.'

"I'm more focused on how we can get the team playing 90 minutes."

The Spaniard was very impressed by Tony Mowbray's Blackburn side, who did what they needed to do in the opening 22 minutes before managing the game out.

Clotet said: "The opposition were superb. They were really strong and used every mistake we made to get us on the back put. Our team didn't manage to get aware of that situation until the game was almost set for them."

He added: "They are by far the best team we've faced this season. I will be surprised if they don't go higher this season.

"They have a Championship team and it was very harsh they went down last season."
